S. flag, the restoration of the Virginius, the release of surviving prisoners, indemnity to families of the murdered, and the punishment of the murderers, and also a guarantee against further outrages in Cuba. The demand was couched in a kind and sympathetic tone, but no alternative was given. Gen. Sickles was also instructed to say that if Castelar did not comply with the demand in a week he should ask for a passport and leave Madrid with the legation. The time expires to-day and no answer has yet been received. Everything at the legation is packed up ready for immediate departure. Sickles has no hope that the ultimatum will be complied with. He telegraphed to Paris yesterday to burn all his official correspondence that might be there, kept for a few days. Sickles in conversation said he did not see how war could be avoided, as Castelar can give no assurances that his orders will be obeyed in Cuba. The public feeling is also opposed to concessions. Unless Castelar responds this evening, Gen Sickles will leave immediately. All American ships in the Mediterranean have been ordered to Key West. In the event of Gen Sickles leaving, the British Minister will probably protect the archives and American residents. President Castelar is personally anxious to accept the British Minister's good offices to effect a compromise, but there is no hope to-night.

LETTER FROM TACOMA

TACOMA, Nov 25, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Although the railroad has been completed for some time past and the iron for the completion of the road to the sound all landed at Kalama there has been serious doubts entertained here as to whether we would have the road built this winter as it has been rumored here that the iron had been attached by the creditors of the N. P. R. R., but on last Saturday official information was received that track laying would commence on Monday the 24th.

One mile of iron was brought as far as Tenino on Sunday and it is expected that the cars will be running into Tacoma by the 15th of December next.

The engineer, who was expected here with the plan of the town over a month since, has not that I can ascertain been heard from and we are in a delightful state of uncertainty as to the time when the new town will be surveyed and the lots offered for sale. A number of persons have erected buildings, taking the chances of their being located [illegible] near the right place when the streets are laid off.

A large number of mechanics are at work on the Company's new wharf [illegible] and [illegible] all of them will be completed by the time the railroad reaches the bay.

Work on the street leading from the wharf to the Company's town site was discontinued some time since and the only means of getting to any place [illegible] the depot except on foot is by water as the road up the hill is at present impassable except for foot passengers. I learn that the Company will do nothing in the way of grading streets until the rainy season is over when they can work to better advantage, in which case the old town will monopolize everything [illegible] the hotel business until next summer.

Parties here are negotiating for the purchase of a small steamer to ply as a ferry [illegible] between the old town and the depot.

The sawmill which has been running on full time all summer was forced to shut down yesterday on account of an accident to the machinery. Mr. Atkinson one of the proprietors started for Portland last night to have the damage repaired.

A good boarding and lodging house is much needed on the Sound [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] first [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] numerous meals and lodgings at [illegible].

The Tacoma mill [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] lumber [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] N P [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] hundred and fifty dollars.

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Yakima country [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] contain [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] extensive.

When the railroad is completed we will [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] attraction to great many [illegible] [illegible] the present [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the mail from Olympia on Monday morning and the next one [illegible] day [illegible] then to make an average [illegible] [illegible] a week.

On motion, the Board adjourned to meet at the Secretary's office March 17, 1874.

THE TERRITORIES.

Forty tons of hay were shipped from Seattle to Victoria last week.

Mount Rainier is said to be almost constantly smoking now a days.

The British England sailed from Utsalady last week with 750,000 feet of lumber for Sydney, Australia.

At one time not less than 1,600 miners were at the Yakima mines but at last accounts over 950 of them had left.

J. P. Clark, Esq., late Register of the Land Office at Olympia is now inmate of an insane asylum near Cincinnati, Ohio.

A shark fifteen feet long, was captured near Castlenook Fishery, last week. The head is preserved in alcohol and will be sent East a la Captain Jack.

A man made an attempt to kidnap his own child at Olympia, the other day, but failed, as the mother went after him and re-captured the little one.

One of the children to figure in future history as the "first white child born at Tacoma," made its appearance last week in the family of Anthony Anderson.

More permanent improvements have been made in Seattle this year than for some time previous. A goodly number of dwelling-houses--some of them very costly--two public school-houses, and much road work, have gone toward the mentioned improvements.

Just as the Tacoma sawmill had commenced work on the 24th a very bad smash up occurred, necessitating the shutting down of the establishment for a week or ten days. The main shaft was a little sprung, and, in descending, struck the piston-rod, and forced it [illegible] through the cylinder, shattering the heavy iron cylinder-head all to fragments.

The last Intelligencer gives a list of some 20 transfers of real estate in that vicinity to the Seattle and Walla Walla Railroad and Transportation Co. A great deal of the land is valuable, and the owners take stock in the above mentioned company in payment therefor. If the citizens of King county continue to manifest the interest and confidence in the success of this road that they have done thus far, it will not be long before people from abroad will be ready to give aid to it also.

We learn from the Courier that a deputation of a score or more of the officers of the "Olympia Light Guards," waited upon Governor Ferry a few days ago and notified him that they and their command held themselves in readiness to respond to any orders that may be given them in connection with the Spanish difficulty. Also that the Castlenook fishing steamer was manned and coaled and at their service, to transport them to San Francisco. This magnificent work of naval art measures some 8 or 10 tons and will afford Olympia's chivalric heroes safe and ample accommodations for the voyage.

The town of Dayton, W. T., is only a year and a half old and has a population of several hundred, with schools, preaching, brick buildings, roads, and other good things far in advance of towns of its age. The only woolen mill in the Territory is located there, and is just fairly starting on a splendid business. The first blankets and stocking yarn were turned out a few days since, and very shortly the factory proposes to monopolize the clothing business of that section by furnishing a better article at a lower rate. The town is ten miles from Waitsburg, twenty from Walla Walla, and fifty from Wallula. It is located in the midst of a splendid agricultural region, and grain, fruits and stock are the principal productions. Beef is very low--3½ cents a pound. Wheat is worth only 50 cents a bushel, and at Wallula, to which place it has to be hauled for steamboat transportation down the Columbia river, 50 cents.

The Swinomish flats are described to us by an inhabitant of them, as "a little the best piece of land to be found anywhere in Washington Territory." The flats are ten miles long and five or six wide, are caused by the overflow of the Skagit and are rich to the bottom--that is deep down, and no one has yet been able to reach it. The flats have all been taken by actual settlers and there is no land there now vacant. Every place is dyked and the sloughs thus formed are navigable at high water. Farmers require no roads off their own lands but sell to sloops and schooners on the slough or else boat their own produce to market. During the past fall two threshing machines have been constantly employed and have turned out an immense amount of grain. Oats and barley are the chief productions. Sam and Tom Calhoun had 150 acres in and reaped a harvest of 10,400 bushels. On another farm 3,700 bushels were taken from 40 acres.

The Albany Republican ticket is as follows: For Mayor, Luther Elkins; for Recorder, Jos Hannon; for Marshal, Theo Cartwright; for Treasurer, Jas Titus; for Councilmen, D. Froman, R. K. Warren, J. H. Burkhart, A. Baltimore, J. H. Foster, A. B. Morris. The election will take place on Monday next.

The several warehouses of Albany are reported full of wheat with the exception of C. B. Comstock & Co.'s, waiting for river transportation. Comstock & Co. have been shipping largely by rail. The flouring mills are well supplied with wheat and are running on full time.

Mr. Thompson's steam plow has been at work on his Yamhill farm and is said to perform well. Large numbers of farmers and others went to see it throw up the soil.

EUGENE CITY ITEMS

Our correspondent at Eugene under date of Nov 28th sends the following items:

Postal Agent J. H. Underwood started for Washington on Tuesday last on business connected with the mails, so alleged. May be somebody wants an appointment!

Thanksgiving day was generally observed here, the stores and business houses being closed from about 10 until 2. The day was quite cold and frosty, but notwithstanding that our people generally attended public worship, returned to their homes and feasted on their well fatted turkeys in peace. We as a people have much to thank the Great Ruler for this last year--peace and a bountiful harvest.

The Teachers' Institute for Lane county held its session this week, under the direction of the State Superintendent, S. C. Simpson. The attendance of teachers was not very large but the meeting was a success. The business before the Institute consisted in essays and speeches on the various branches of study connected with our common school system. Several of the essays were well written documents, and reflect much credit upon the professional teachers of this county. Among the best we would name Profs. Martin, Grubbs, Arnold, Bushnell, and Miss Sabrig. Rev P. S. Knight, of Salem, was present, and delivered a very able lecture on Tuesday evening. Mr Simpson, State Superintendent, delivered a lecture on Wednesday evening, on the duties of the State to control and perfect our common school system, and increase the school tax so that the schools could be taught at least six or [illegible] months in the year in every district. The lecture in every way was logical, clear and exhaustive. It was a masterly effort.

County Superintendent T. G. Hendricks deserves great credit for his labor and energy to make the Institute a success, which it certainly was. The proceedings are too long to given even a synopsis.

THE REACTION

It is apparent that a change is rapidly taking place in the opinions of the press on the subject of the Virginius butchery. Those journals which first started the cry for war have, with few exceptions, repented themselves of their rash haste. It is now seen that reparation can be had in some way other than the shedding of blood. So much for the press; as for people, they are overwhelmingly in favor of an honorable peace. That such a peace is not unattainable is evident from the conduct of the Spanish Government. The reports which have reached us have all been colored by prejudice. Spain has been held accountable for the barbarous method in which punishment was inflicted on the captives; she has been denounced as the nurse of tyranny, and her people have been condemned without stint, as a nation of cut throats and red handed assassins. It is right that Spain should be held accountable for whatever injury she may have done to us. But before our guns are shotted it would be the part of wisdom to ascertain whether a wrong has been done to us—we mean such an injury as would justify a demand for redress at the cannon's mouth after all peaceful methods have failed. This is the tone of every Eastern paper which came to our table last night, with the single exception of the New York Times.

Now, in the first place, the exact status of the Virginius has never been satisfactorily determined. It is said that, prima facie, she was an American vessel rightfully sailing under the flag of the United States, but it is also true that, prima facie, she was engaged in a business forbidden by our obligations as neutrals. The whole question of redress, it will be perceived, begins just here. Our advocates of war have assumed that the Virginius was entitled to the same consideration and the same protection which would be accorded to an unarmed merchantman traversing the seas in peaceful trade. They forget the character of the expedition. They forget the single fact that the Tornado pursued the fleeing filibusters for eight hours. And while it may be said that the burden of proof as to the character of the vessel in dispute rests on Spain, it may be safely argued, on the other hand, that our government has no right to declare war until it is fully satisfied that the Virginius was honestly using our ensign. It has been forgotten, too, that when Minister Sickles called upon the Madrid government to stay judgment on the captives, it straightway acquiesced and telegraphed to Cuba an order forbidding the punishment of the captives. Unfortunately, however, the order was not received until after certain of the filibusters had been shot. The disposition of the Madrid government to deal honestly and fairly, is sufficiently apparent to warrant a little forbearance on our part, assuming that we have legal cause of complaint against Spain.

We venture to remark that the war advocates have blundered most egregiously. They have passed judgment before a particle of the evidence has been heard. Doubtless some were sincere. There are others, however, who, seeing an insufferable insult to our national honor in the slaughter of a lot of filibusters, can yet see a professional seducer and wife beater in the United States Senate without blushing at the loud insult to a virtuous people. And there are others we wot of who shudder at the thought of forbearance toward a sister republic, denouncing it as a sacrifice of national dignity, who would cover up the greatest larcenies from the national treasury with the cloak of the party name.

There is yet another class of loud mouthed preachers of "dignity" and "honor." They are typified by an editorial writer in the Salem Mercury who prates of the "Decay of National Honor." We have but one emotion for such sentiments as the following, and that emotion is unutterable contempt: "The national pride and regard for the honor of the Republic which characterized that grand old race of Southern statesmen, has given way to the weak, dilatory, vacillating, cowardly and contemptible rule of New England Puritanism." The man who can pen a sentiment like that, who can so dishonor the Puritan pilgrims who founded this republic, and to whose rugged virtue, more than anything else, he is indebted for the citizenship which he disgraces, ought to be put in the front rank of battle and held there. We suspect that he is a deserter from the Confederate army. If not that, then he is a renegade Yankee, the meanest type of humanity on God's green earth.

We have not the slightest idea that Congress will deal rudely with this question. The most influential Senators and the majority of Congressmen have set themselves firmly against the clamor for blood. Meanwhile there is every reason to hope for a peaceful settlement. By the time set for the meeting of Congress the demand for blood will have given way to a more humane, more liberal sentiment.

VERY PLAIN TALK

The New York Times continues its sound admonitions to corrupt party managers. Perhaps the blatant political [illegible] who are accustomed to whipping their little coteries into support of distasteful nominees will learn something of the spirit which has seized upon the Republican press of the Union from a perusal of the following excerpts from the Times of Nov 16th. There is more treason to party in these few words than was ever charged upon the OREGONIAN. [illegible] the Bulletin especially read and ponder. The article from which we quote is a leading editorial. It is headed "What Dr. [illegible] will not Do."

The Republican journals of the country, and especially those of this State, are agreed that the Republican party owes its recent reverses in great part to the conduct of its own leaders. It is a hopeful sign for the future that the party press does not fail to express this view plainly and with vigor. A party is not in much immediate danger when the great body of the newspapers which support it are ready to point out its errors and its faults, to name those who are responsible for them, and to call for immediate and thorough change. The papers in this country reflect public opinion as much as they determine public opinion, and their leaders can learn from them without trouble what the voters desire and what are the limits of endurance, and we are much mistaken if the knowledge now to be obtained in this way is not heeded. Politicians who are sincere and sensible will be glad to avail themselves of it, and even the most foolish will not dare to disregard it.

From this unceasing infusion of independent minds the Republican party has acquired a temper that can not safely be trifled with, and its conduct in the recent elections is proof of that fact. The thousands of voters who refused to go to the polls, or who would not vote for Democratic candidates because these represented other principles than their own, but they gave notice by their abstention that they did not regard the party organization as at present representing their views.

It is evident that there is no charm in the mere fact of regularity to compel the votes of Republicans. The party has been united not by discipline enforced by authority, but by genuine consent inspired by common devotion to the same end. It cannot be kept united unless the honest convictions of its members are satisfied. Doubtless it has its mercenary, its ignorant, its bigoted and narrow minded elements, and partizan leaders who are nearest to these may not unnaturally have supposed the party to be controlled by them. But it is not. The men of conscience, of intelligence, of independence are always numerous enough to defeat the party when they are not satisfied. It is obvious that they are not satisfied with the immediate past. Can our leaders satisfy them in the future? That is the point on which turns the continuance or the dissolution of the Republican party.

Perhaps we shall next hear that the Times is a "morning Democratic organ."

Our usual amount of editorial matter is excluded this morning by a press of news and correspondence.

DEATH OF MR ABRAMS.—This gentleman, who received very severe injuries last week by falling in the saw mill died at his residence in East Portland on Wednesday evening Mr Abrams was completely paralyzed after the fall from the waist down until death released him from his pain During his brief survival he endured untold suffering He was conscious most of the time recognizing all the friends who called to see him and conversing intelligently up to a short time prior to his death Deceased was one of the earliest citizens of Portland As early as 1851 he was engaged in the lumbering business in this city He was burned out twice and met with many financial reverses and family afflictions Several times he has been badly injured from accidents but managed to survive all but the last He was a good citizen an exact and competent business man a kind father and husband and an unshaken consistent believer in the Christian faith in which belief he died In his death the community has sustained a great loss A family and a large circle of friends mourn the death of Mr Abrams The funeral will take place to day from the late residence of the deceased

THANKSGIVING DAY AT ST STEPHEN'S CHAPEL.—This church was crowded to celebrate the national harvest home It was beautifully decorated with the fruit grain and flowers of Oregon The font presented a magnificent pyramid of the choicest fruit resting upon layers of wheat and oats It would have made the mouth of a Californian water to see such a sight and ought to be sent to the Commissioner of Agriculture in Washington as specimens of our State The Rev John Rosenberg preached a powerful sermon, the subject of which was Providence in severity and goodness There were some truly eloquent passages which for want of space we cannot transcribe

STEAMER DEPARTED.—The steamer Oriflamme which sailed hence yesterday carried away the following passengers W McCabe, Mrs Jessie Hawley L Bookowitz, Mrs. Northrup and child, J W Blakeney, L L Bullock W. N Wallace, S S. Cuney, W H Davenport D Gaugain, M Gray, General Tilton, J Jackson, wife and daughter, Silas Wightman, Charles Brown E D Tyne, Miss Julia Pelett, W H Pinkney and wife Mrs Polworth, Mrs E F Hinne G Garst, Dr C G Kenyon G Woodward and wife W H Lewis, E D Towl, H W Samson Henry J Lynch and wife L A Dolman W Renton W N Horton G W Roberts Frank Drake and twenty in the steerage

STUCK FAST.—On Wednesday night while the Fannie Troup was coming up the river, she ran aground at Three Tree Island, near the mouth of the Wallamet Owing to the dense fog which prevailed at the time, it was intensely dark, and the pilot was unable to determine his exact whereabouts, and thus ran aground At the time it was high tide, so that when the waters receded, the boat was hopelessly stuck About 25 passengers were on board at the time, who were compelled to pass the night there On the following morning they were transferred to another boat All attempts thus far made have proved ineffectual to get the boat back into the channel

CHANGES.—The traveling public will notice changes in the O S N Co's advertisement this morning The upper Columbia boats are now running irregularly for the transportation of freight, and there will be no regular days of leaving for Wallula. The Rescue has been withdrawn from the Monticello route, and will hereafter run as an accommodation boat between Portland and Kalama leaving Kalama every morning (except Sunday), and leaving Portland at 2 P M, making the trip up and back daily.

SPECIAL RELIGIOUS SERVICES.—In the Scandinavian Evangelical Lutheran Church in East Portland will be administered the Lord's Supper next Sunday, Dec 1st at 11 o'clock A. M. to the Lutherans, who beforehand will have a colloquium with the Pastor and there will be preaching at 7 o clock P M in the Young Men s Christian Association Room over Ladd & Tilton's Bank, First and Stark streets God willing, Rev. Dr. A E. Fridrichsen will officiate

LADIES' RELIEF SOCIETY.

GENEROUS DONATIONS MADE BY THE CITIZENS OF PORTLAND TO THE HOME—A THANKSGIVING DAY—ACKNOWLEDGMENTS ETC

Portlanders are somewhat proverbial for their charities Scarcely at no time during the history of this city has an appeal in behalf of destitution, sickness or distress been made in vain For a city where no greater measure of wealth is concentrated our citizens stand ever ready and willing, according to their ability, to open their hearts and purses and respond to calls for charity There are a number of charitable organizations in Portland all of which are under the immediate inspection and management of the several religious denominations Among the organized bodies of the city we note the Ladies Relief Society German Aid Society Hebrew Benevolent Society British Benevolent Society and Hibernian Benevolent Society Besides these recognized and established societies for the relief of the distressed and suffering, there are many of the churches of the city who have a special eye to cases of destitution individuals or families —which may exist either within the respective limits of membership or not Many cases thus reported are quietly attended to, and are not reported to any of these benevolent societies

For usefulness in ministering faithfully and impartially to the wants of those who are unfortunate and in accomplishing the greatest measure of good—spiritual and temporal—the Ladies Relief Society of Portland stands preeminent This noble institution has been organized some years and its permanency and sphere of usefulness has become a recognized fact Its members are composed of many of our wealthiest most aristocratic but truly benevolent and noble hearted ladies Difficulties of an embarrassing nature beset the organization and earlier work of the Ladies Relief Society and it required long faithful and tireless labor before its existence was assured and mission of charity established beyond a peradventure In this work of benevolence the ladies were assiduous Although many obstacles lay in the way of founding an institution whose special and sole province was to relieve destitute and unfortunate women and homeless friendless orphans yet these exemplary ladies out of the depths of hearts over flowing with the kindest impulses of humanity, battled against impediments and struggled over all opposition until their efforts have been crowned with signal success Through persistent, constant effort means were raised by festivals concerts, entertainments and voluntary contributions, until sufficient were obtained to begin the erection of a building or "Home," which would answer for years to come the demands of charity As the name implies it was to be a home to those who were homeless sick, destitute and friendless In these noble and praiseworthy efforts the ladies were greatly assisted by numerous of our benevolent citizens, and the pastors of the several denominations in the city Justice and truth require the statement that on all proper occasions the ministers of Portland have never allowed an opportunity to pass by unimproved to press the claims of this institution from the pulpit or to labor earnestly in its behalf among their congregations To their co-operation much of the success of the Home is mainly attributable

THE "HOME."

More than one year ago the "Home" was completed and ready for inmates The building is erected on a fractional portion of a block at the corner of Fourteenth and F streets. It is a large, comfortable structure two stories high, and contains eleven rooms The rooms are all large and commodious, with an abundance of light and air, well furnished with neat, plain, but substantial furniture The ceilings are high and airy and well adapted to invalids or sick inmates Everything is kept most scrupulously neat which contributes much towards lending a quiet, home-like air to the institution The "Home" is under the immediate supervision of a Matron Mrs Law, a most intelligent kind and motherly lady, who personally attends to the wants of all whom circumstances or accident places there Dr C C Strong a young physician of the city, has been chosen by the Society as Medical Director of the institution He visits the "Home" regularly three times a week, and oftener, when occasion requires, to attend to those who may be afflicted

At present there are ten inmates—eight children and two women Inmates are constantly leaving the "Home," either after recovering from sickness or procuring situations while others are being admitted Children who are orphans and friendless are placed in the institution, clothed fed and provided for, until places can be procured for them Good homes have been obtained for a large number of these unfortunate children since the establishment of the "Home" Its usefulness in gathering up these little unfortunates and providing for them until they can be adopted into good families is certainly among the noblest missions of mercy performed by the institution

THANKSGIVING DONATION

One year ago last Thursday Mr. William Wadhams one of the most active and efficient friends of the institution, accompanied by representatives of the daily press called on a large number of our citizens merchants business men, etc and solicited donations to the "Home" It is needless to say that the efforts were attended with very satisfactory and substantial results Contributions were freely made by all to whom application was made A considerable sum of money was raised, and a large quantity of clothing, groceries etc., etc were procured Of the latter, a wagon load was obtained in a few hours These articles were taken to the "Home" for the use of the inmates, and the coin was placed in the hands of the Treasurer of the society Mrs Sam M Smith, to swell the fund which could be drawn upon as necessity required

Encouraged by the result of his labors last year Mr Wadhams again called on our citizens Thursday for whatever they might feel willing and able to donate In his labors of charity he was assisted by two gentlemen of the press Mr S A Moreland, of the OREGONIAN and Mr F E Hodgkins, of the Bulletin These gentlemen waited upon the citizens at their homes and places of business, and made eloquent and effective appeals for contributions If possible, a larger measure of success attended the gentlemen s efforts this Thanksgiving than the preceding one Only a very few declined to give, while almost every one responded very liberally Groceries of all kinds, flour, meat apples potatoes, shoes clothing stockings shirts, underwear etc were donated freely and without a word Quite a number paid money As a result of the day s labor, the sum of $112 85 was raised in coin and a truck load of provisions and clothes The money was turned over to the Treasurer and the other articles were taken to the "Home" and stored away for present and future use These articles in addition to several contributions which were made a few days prior to Thanksgiving, will greatly assist the institution, and furnish provision and clothing sufficient to last through the winter months while the money thus raised will be of material service to the Society in meeting the expenses of the institution

CARD OF THANKS

In grateful acknowledgment to the citizens who generously contributed of their substance and the three disinterested gentlemen who kindly performed the labor on Thanksgiving we are in receipt of the following card of thanks

The Ladies of the Relief Society desire to express their most heartfelt thanks to the citizens of Portland for their liberal donation to the Home on Thanksgiving Day amounting to $112 85 in coin and a very large supply of groceries clothing and meats as well as many other useful articles for the Home To Mr Wm Wadhams Mr Moreland of the OREGONIAN and Mr Hodgkins of the Bulletin are they especially indebted for their time and labor in this good work also to the Transfer Company for the gratuitous use of a team The gratitude of the poor will be their reward

THANKSGIVING DISCOURSE.

By request we publish the following sermon delivered on Thursday by Rev T L Eliot at the Unitarian Chapel in this city on the subject of "Home and State"

On this Thanksgiving Day, I invite your attention to a theme seldom spoken of in detail but which seems unusually appropriate to the hour—The relation of Home and State The day is sui generis and yet no day is more intimately associated with our most sacredly private life Is this juxtaposition an accident? We have here two things apparently most widely removed and yet no forced conformity or arbitrary rule has brought them together but a real nexus a vital connection of ideas When I speak of the State I seem to introduce a topic of the brawling street or political meeting When I speak of the Home, it is like the hidden shelter from noisy antagonistic debate As the mariner rounds the headland out of rolling waves and folds the sails of his ship while his keel slowly moves through the smooth water of the harbor so we turn from politics to firesides So the State is an open sea—the Home a quiet harbor The State is an arena of intrigues parties and policies The Home is a retired peace and love One is sacred the other seems almost profane Such is the contrast my friends which immediately occurs when these words are spoken Yet to-day by an unconscious affirmation our great republic brings the two together in marriage The President and Governors announce the day from sea to sea It is a National Feast It is an hour to be observed by the closing of business the opening of churches a day for bringing forward in its most impressive aspects the great corporate existence of the State a day in which to unveil the splendid genius of our country and view her as on a pedestal with the past and present and future grouped like a chorus of constellations about her head We measure her lordly height with admiring glance, we look into her eyes and encounter there her fearless gaze, with a sense of her mighty protecting power We touch the rocky base on which her feet rest and are stirred with pride that the nation is grappled to granite foundations And it is a day when by common consent party and creed are laid aside we celebrate with our fathers and blood stained sires our country a name her honor her treasures, her hopes and on this day, if ever flows the stream of patriotic fervor and consecration made tranquil and deep by the voice of religion, which turns the swelling tide of devotion towards the nation s God Thus does the State, thus come together the best emotions of patriotic life. But Thanksgiving Day is not over No, nor half begun What mean these gatherings of familiar bosom friends? the carefully ordered house, the double blazing hearth stone fires the groaning festal board this happiest of happy and sweetest of sweet communions of heart and voice? Is it a birthday festival of some darling of the household? Is it a wedding feast of joy and smiles and happy tears? Yes, dear friends, a birthday not of one in the home but of home itself Yes kind hearts, a wedding feast but not of a daughter or son, but of all the sons and daughters fathers and mothers, a perpetual golden wedding day of home sweet home! No edict of President has brought them out No command of Governor has spread the table or inspired the home with laughter and homely tale with sacred reminiscence of absent friends and old old days No, but nearer than we can think to the State is the home, its fair and close companion and hers that are joining hands in marriage God has placed them together, let no man put them asunder

Home and State, so different, yet so closely linked in the bestowal of happiness so necessary to each other reaching up like the spans of an arch and meeting in the kingdom of God s own divine blessing on each I briefly name them together and claim your thought for a few moments to the intimate connections between them of dependence and protection I need not tell you which of these is first in the ordering of Providence The family is prior to the State, as the individual is to society Let us consider what are virtues in a citizen and a country and see how these are fostered by a true home

I count a nation to be great according, first as it unites liberty with law second as it maintains a conscious self related unity and integrity third, as it subordinates wealth and outward pomp to moral strength fourth as it protects the weak and guards the rights of the minorities and wards

First—Liberty and law The problem of national life is bound up in these two words they are like the two foci of an ellipse, to which every point of the perimeter is strictly related in a certain proportion The mutual counterpoise of freedom and obligation of rights delegated and retained constitutes the measure of a nation s rank among nations There are governments where there is law and no liberty and others where there is liberty and only the semblance of law and the great problem of all time has been to unite the two, or so adjust them, that the majesty of the one was maintained and yet the highest civil and moral liberty reserved to the citizen This American Republic in which the world is putting its best and fondest hope was an experiment, which seemed as hazardous in 1776 as now would seem any Utopia or Platonic Republic But it was out of home life and discipline and out of home liberty I firmly believe that the seed of civil liberty was nourished to perfect fruit The homes of pioneers taught that self government and independent spirit which culminated in the Revolution It was out of New England homes clustered together fostered by hardship religious homes, where law and conscience and fidelity to individual conviction united to both bind and loose that the Constitution of this country was given the unmistakable impress it bears—so strong yet free A law transgressing no true liberty, and a liberty passing over no line of true law I judge many elements of history and many circumstances conspired to bring forth our country's life The philosopher can trace them through many ways but it was when these elements were centered in homes and impressed the generations that at last they culminated in Bunker Hill and the State House at Philadelphia It was the light of the stern old Puritans firesides and that at last was set on a candlestick and casts its beams where tyrants trembled and the oppressed rejoiced His law was God s will and all else was leveled Kings and thrones fell and a nation where the people are kings and subjects at once law makers and law observers obedient yet free has risen as a bulwark of civilization and a vindication of the rights of man

Second A nation is great as it maintains a conscious self related unity and integrity I believe the home idea here maintains an important part also The formal unity of a nation is not enough to counteract the centrifugal forces of Republicanism The intense individuality and sectional interests of communities would soon scatter us into fragments but for a deep conservative element of feeling which was bred within the home life of our fathers How potent these forces of individuality and sectionalism has frequently been evidenced but most strikingly so in the civil war of 1860 But the Family Law has insensibly penetrated the heart of the nation These States were bound of necessity to have a life—not of compact to be loosed at will but of indestructible relationship The law of consanguinity makes them one as a family is one by radical ties Out of home life and home feelings came this conviction though purchased by blood that the nation is one that States are no more than so many individuals of a household and are bound with endless but living ties to each other As a true home knows no distinction of mine and thine inconsistent with the united welfare so our country is a unity not States but a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] bound [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] gether without [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The third distinguishing characteristic of a great nation is that it subordinates wealth and outward prosperity to moral strength We read of corporations with at [illegible] [illegible] nation has a soul and that [illegible] measured by spiritual abilities rather than material Nowhere is [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and nowhere to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] selves [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] A Xerxes [illegible] Marathon and an [illegible] the floods held [illegible] [illegible] Degenerate Greece [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] might Senate it is only a question of whether we shall make the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Greeks here or at home [illegible] [illegible] hordes [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] power in Germany [illegible] [illegible] when all [illegible] wealth [illegible] [illegible] manhood [illegible] to turn back the Tartarian hordes [illegible] and Brennus threw his sword [illegible] against their heaps [illegible] The England of the Stuarts found [illegible] against the England [illegible] [illegible] defender of chattel slavery [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] with vital American principles Here again I see the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the true State. That is a poor home which has no higher vitalizing force than gross material wants and in proportion as the home approaches its ideal it stands for great principles of sincerity, justice and love What is family wealth compared to the family name? What is the household purse compared to the house hold honor? What are broad fields and registered bonds, compared to peace affection sympathy? What even are refinement and culture compared to a home where the spirit of Christ reigns—a home whose substantial life neither death nor sorrow can permanently disturb The analogy here presented is certainly striking Mere wealth of resources do not make a nation but principles and the vital spirit of manhood to make a nation Mere force or strength or warlike prowess even are not the heart of national existence Like the tides of ocean the great lesson of the ages rolls up every century bearing witness to the potency of moral things The nation that is to last must be built upon justice truth and righteousness Well it is only a truism once more to say that these silent forces flow out of the homes of the land The national life cannot rise higher than the life of the household or the average integrity of its people The world sees an instructive spectacle in the Spain of to day A few magnificent men one of them a second Washington the gifted Castelar are striving to right the great water logged ship of State but them selves several centuries taller than their countrymen what can they do? Of what avail the mental calibre and consummate wisdom and exalted patriotism of the few when the mass belong to another age and another civilization I tell you Homes make the Nation The life of home and its intelligence and integrity vitally underlie the structure of State For lack of these like the icy castle of Catherine of Russia it will perish in the first summer sun Let it be never so prosperous it will topple with its own weight Let adversity touch it and it is gone

One more parallel The true State is ruled by no despotic majority it is the sworn protector of the weak While mind remains mind and man is man, there will continue antagonism in politics principles and aims The old way of national life was to rule or ruin To neither give nor expect quarter to neither tolerate nor expect toleration, to crush when you are not crushed There were never two parties for, for one to succeed was to blot the other out or to smother it from sight But how is it in the true household and in the true state? The connection of analogy is again vital and significant In the true household the strong protect the weak No individuality is absorbed or destroyed in the true state There is no repression of convictions All minorities have their rights, and the nation has its wards over whom it extends a parental care The children of the country like the children of the home are fostered and tenderly grafted into the body politic through the glorious instrumentality of the great system of schools The weak of every name and age and in every category whether of mind or body or morals are placed in such conditions as may best promote the happiness of the whole The true Government works with its legal penalties and even as does conservative surgery preferring to save, rather than destroy So does the home towards its erring members, both in the little daily experience or in the tragedies of its family history

Friends I have thus hinted at lines of thought which I hope may be promotive to us as citizens and as home makers If the State like a river is made up of the home rivulets and the quality of each is indissolubly linked to that of the other we are presented with a philosophic stand point from which to judge the temper of passing events We are enabled to ask such questions as these What is the country, the nation, the age doing for home life? and what tendencies good or bad, can be recognized in the present status of the homes of our people? Is home life degenerating? Test that matter by such qualities as we have presented Are our homes homes of law and of liberty?—or of liberty without law? Have our homes the self-related unity which so distinguished the homes of New England and the early Northwest? Which are uppermost—material interests or moral and spiritual interests? How does the average home deal with its differences, and with its weaker members? I believe that if in any of these directions the average home of the nation is wanting the nation will be found wanting also For example, if it appears that the State is mainly considering material wealth, you may trace the evil to the sordid aim which has usurped the throne in the household where sacred principle should sit If you think to recognize elements of centralization or elements of license—Cæsarism—or monopolies or untaxed churches or an over weaning sectarianism, or official corruption or a wide-spread neglect of citizen responsibility, you may test to a great degree the truth of your conviction you may determine whether that conviction is substance or shadow, based in reality or in seeming by inspecting the homes of our land—by inspecting your own homes A home without law will be a State without law A home without responsibility attaching to all its relations will be a State without responsibility and oscillating like a pendulum between license and despotism Men talk and tilt with theological lances about a godless nation and because forsooth it so happens that the name of God or any creed are left out of its constitution they talk of Godless schools if it so happen that the Bible be not read in them, but believe me, if our nation becomes Godless it will be only because its homes have first become Godless The placing of Jehovah's name in the constitution will not effect what the placing of His law and the fear of God and Christian principles within the homes will The public schools if they ever become God fearing or Godless will be so not by the mere formal reading of a few Bible sentences or the mere formal omission of the same but by the character of its teachers, of the citizens who control them, and of the homes from which the children come

Let us then keep the solemn festival of "Home and State, and amid the festivities of this Thanksgiving day renew our allegiance to each of them for their own and for each other sake Let us guard them both from outward foes and inward corruption For we have here jewels which cannot be replaced When Mummius plundered Corinth he entrusted with ship masters to take them to Rome If they lost or damaged them he said, they must replace them with others of equal value! The jewels of Home and State are freighted up in the hearts and in the hands of this generation If lost by us who shall recover or replace them As hopeless would the task be as to replace a sunken Grecian statue May then we realize the solemnity of our trust and to this end may God be by covenant the God of our Home and be the God of our beloved land

SENTENCE OF DR. GLASS.

The motion for a new trial having been overruled in his case, Dr C G Glass was yesterday morning, called up in the Circuit Court for sentence As it had been announced two days before that the judgment of the Court would be rendered at this time a large number of spectators were present A little after nine o clock the prisoner was brought from the county jail into the Court room by the jailer Mr Rathburn A perfect silence was maintained by the crowd as he walked with a quick nervous step to a seat inside the bar As soon as he had taken his seat, Judge Upton, calling him by name required him to stand up He arose and the Judge said

Dr Glass, you have been indicted by the Grand Jury of this county for the crime of manslaughter An impartial jury legally impanneled having heard the testimony and arguments of counsel for the State and on your behalf have, after due deliberation found that you are guilty as charged in the indictment Have you anything to say why the sentence of the Court should not now be pronounced upon you?

The prisoner said I have nothing more to say your Honor, than that I never used any medicines or instruments to procure an abortion on the person of Mary E Harman She was sick and I sent word to her father that she was in danger but she died Had I been permitted to make a statement to the jury I believe all could have been satisfactorily explained The blow has crushed me but I hope the day will come when I can fully prove my innocence in this matter All I ask of your Honor is that you will let your sentence be as light as possible

While he was speaking the prisoner s voice trembled exceedingly his form shook his face was very pale, and his whole demeanor was that of a man filled with deep and terrible emotion As he concluded, Judge Upton, addressing him, said

The Court endeavored to have your case properly and legally presented to the jury, the jurors appear to have been honest fair and unbiased men and taking their verdict as correct, which the court is in a measure bound to do, I cannot do otherwise than hold you as guilty and pronounce upon you the sentence which the law imposes The statutes of this country are not enacted for purposes of revenge but are penal in their character, and are made to restrain and warn as well as to punish For the crime of which you have been convicted the punishment fixed by law is imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than ten years Considering the nature of the crime of which this jury has said you are guilty it would seem proper that the heaviest penalty of the law should be inflicted; but taking the circumstances of the case to mind, the Court concludes to limit your sentence to much less than the longest time fixed by the statutes The judgment of the Court is that you be confined in the penitentiary of the State at hard labor for the period of five years, and that you pay a fine of one dollar and the costs of prosecution

Mr Williams of counsel for the prisoner, then made application to the Court for a stay of execution until the meeting of the Supreme Court with a view of appealing the case to that tribunal The application was taken under advisement and the prisoner remanded to the jail

The brilliant idea of half a century ago that the weak and ailing could be bled blistered and salivated into a condition of health and vigor is happily exploded but violent and griping purgation is still to some extent in vogue We have impostors who are daring enough to offer to the world as tonics and restoratives the most destructive cathartics immodified by a single stimulating soothing, or restorative element Compare the operation of one of these terrible drugs with that of Hostetter s Stomach Bitters in which are combined the three great curative elements a tonic an alterative and an aperient The former completely paralyzes the vital forces so that nature can make no resistance to disease the latter sustains the strength of the patient while it restores the suspended functions of the secretory organs and regulates the bowels without irritating or torturing them. The Daily Oregonian.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV 29 1873

OREGON.

Wheat is 92 cents a bushel at McMinnville.

Thanksgiving Day was generally observed throughout the State.

Every dwelling house in Oregon City is occupied and more wanted.

Amity merchants have shipped during the past season 70,000 bushels of wheat.

Business is very lively at Harrisburg, although very little wheat has yet been sold.

The total amount of wheat shipped from Corvallis this fall so far is claimed to be over 200,000 bushels.

Dogs or wolves don't know which killed some splendid Cotswolds for W C Hill, in Yamhill last week.

Every orchard in Oregon is literally running over with apples. Everybody supplied, and thousands of acres left.

The property of Hon S C Adams at McMinnville was sold the other day for $2,000, and is said to have gone very cheap.

The earthquake went through McMinnville sufficiently strong to stop many clocks make the windows rattle, and give things generally a queer motion.

The Harrisburg municipal election transpires next Monday. The Democrat says a citizen's ticket will doubtless be chosen without reference to politics.

Col N H Gates has resigned his position as a member of the State Board of Equalization and also that of Deputy Swamp Land Commissioner for the selection of swamp lands in Wasco county.

The first number of the Oregon Granger is upon our table. It is well gotten up both editorially and typographically, and contains much of interest to the farming classes. The next number will appear Dec 11th.

The Harrisburg school is in a more flourishing condition than ever before—120 scholars being in attendance. J C Bolon is Principal, assisted by Mr Henderson. The conduct of the school is giving general satisfaction.

The Baker City Democrat of the 20th, announces three narrow escapes of that city from fire within a few days. It points at incendiarism as the cause, and suggests hanging to a convenient tree as a preventive of further fires.

Farmers are everywhere busy at the plow either holding or driving. The early sown wheat looks well, and the weather continuing favorable there will be a much greater breadth of wheat sown this year than was last, say ten per cent.

The house of J W Weatherford, at Salem was burglarized on last Wednesday night, by one supposed to be a Chinaman, but failed to get away with much portable property. He was discovered before he had time to accumulate things.

[illegible] Ed. Forbes organized Molalla Grange No 40, in Clackamas county, about the 1st of November. P S Noyer was elected Master, and P J Howard, Secretary. The Grange now has 24 members, with a good prospect for a large increase.

Rev. B. H. Lewis, who had been expelled from the United Baptist Church of La Grande, has been reinstated in the same and granted full authority and liberty to discharge his former duties and responsibilities as a licensed Baptist minister in the denomination.

A meeting of citizens nominated the following ticket to be voted for at the Salem municipal election next Monday: Mayor, J N Richardson; Recorder, John Gray; Marshal, John Smith; Treasurer, C Uzafovage; Councilmen, Wm Waldo, J W Gilbert, E M Waite, L Bryne, Jno. Berry, L Griffith, S C, Simpson, E. Strong.

A writ has been issued out of the Circuit Court in the Second District for a review of the proceedings of the State Board of Equalization in raising assessments. The proceedings are instigated by certain wealthy men in Benton county, who don't want to have their assessments raised. The hearing on the writ was set for the 28th.

An organization by the name of the "First Spiritual Religious Society of Clackamas Co.," has been incorporated, with John H. Moore, Buckman, Chas R Hanson and I F Beals as trustees and incorporators. The society has purchased a tract of land near Mr Parrott's place, five miles above Oregon City, on which they propose to erect a house to hold regular meetings.

The Granger says: "Radical changes are imminent. J D Biles of the Oregon Steam ship Co, was in Albany a few days since, arranging for wheat freights as soon as the river raises and Col Joe Teal is looking after the interest of the W R T Co. Col T informs us that the new boat his Company is building is intended to run direct to Astoria from points on the Upper Willamette. This boat will be ready for service in about twenty days. Her capacity is 400 tons. She will take on, say 250 tons, at Albany or Corvallis and after reaching Portland, transfer from their Yamhill boats 150 tons, and proceed to Astoria with the full load of 400 tons."

A correspondent of the Baker City Herald says there seems to be a stand still in the mines at Eldorado. He says: "There seems to be a stand-still in the mines at this place. There is much complaint concerning the management of the water privileges. Several miners told us that they had only partly cleaned up and that they were compelled to stop work on account of the scarcity of water. This is a state of affairs to be deplored, because the whole country is affected to a great extent by the suspension of mining before the season's work is properly concluded. Eldorado is a very snug mountain village. The houses are substantial, and are provided with excellent cellars."

As an evidence of the productiveness of Oregon we quote the following yields of grain from different sections of the State. C P Buckhardt of Linn county raised Golden Amber wheat weighing 64½ lbs ℔ bushel and yielding 43 bushels to the acre. R C Greer of Marion county raised White Winter wheat weighing 63 lbs ℔ bushel and yielding 40 bushels per acre. H Massey of Polk county raised Little Red and White Club wheat weighing 64 lbs ℔ bushel, also Russian Winter oats weighing 40 lbs ℔ bushel and yielding 40 bushels per acre. J W Harford of Marion county raised Winter Oats weighing 30 lbs to the bushel and yielding 75 bushels per acre. R C Greer of the same county raised the English Winter variety of oats weighing 45 lbs ℔ bushel and yield 106 bushels to the acre.

The Statesman says: "The most remarkable case of recovery from severe injuries which has been brought to our notice, is that of Mr William Cross' little boy, aged seven years who was so severely injured some time ago by being run over with a wagon. We talked with Mr Thomas Cross the boy's grandfather a day or two since and he considers so complete a recovery almost miraculous. The wagon was loaded with about eighty bushels of wheat, and when the boy fell off a sack of wheat went with him over which the forward wheel of the wagon passed and off from which the wheel dropped on to the little fellow's head, cutting the scalp as if with a knife entirely around the crown of the head with the exception of about an inch at the back and severing it clean from the skull. The hind wheel passed over his arm between the elbow and shoulder literally grinding it in two so that small pieces of bone worked their way out through the skin. Dr Carpenter was called to dress the little sufferer's wounds and a little more than a week ago discharged his patient from further treatment. Mr Cross informs us that the boy has to all appearances entirely recovered, his head being as good as ever and states that he seems to handle his broken arm with as much ease and convenience as the other."

There are no new developments in the condition of our local finances that call for special comment. Economy and conservatism are still prominent features in the line of conduct pursued by bankers and [illegible] though there is no doubt that an improvement in financial matters has taken place. No very favorable reception is given to calls for long discounts but for call or demand loans the feeling is quite encouraging, and persons in quest of such favors encounter less difficulty than for some time past. The banks though willing to change their stringent policy in many respects are extremely anxious to keep their funds in a shape where they can be easily handled and readily obtained. Hence while comparatively free as to the matter of call or short loans they almost invariably discriminate against long time calls or paper that would result in tying up any considerable amount of their funds for an extended period. This policy while it insures safety should extraordinary circumstances arise or great disturbances occur nevertheless keeps back many improvements and enterprises which with a liberal support, would give life and energy to the business aspect of the community.

Home Produce Market.

Since our issue of Wednesday very few changes have taken place in our market. Wheat is still coming to hand quite freely and the vessels in port are fast getting on their cargoes. Prices seem rather weaker though quotations are still furnished at $2 per cental. Oats seem steady at 45 cents per bushel with light receipts. Hay is in better demand with no increase in receipts. Barley quiet. Flour firm at our last quotations. Eggs have declined to 40 cents per dozen being still held at about San Francisco prices. Butter of all kinds is in good supply. Wool and Hides weaker with a tendency toward lower rates.

The failure of several vessels now due to arrive on time causes rather more quiet in our port than has been experienced for several weeks. We will probably witness a revival of activity next week. At present there is considerable complaint of dullness in trade circles generally.

MEDICAL.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE,
NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,
623 KEARNEY st, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established 185[illegible] for the treatment of Venereal and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Diseases of the Skin, and Old Sores of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.
DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing he has returned from visiting the principal hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.
The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.
Horrible Diseases.
How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at the pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and the broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his special study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many so-called doctors who advertise all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make inquiry or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.
Seminal Weakness.
Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confusion of ideas, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give [illegible] Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco [illegible]
Married Men,
Or those who contemplate marriage, who are laboring under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.
DR. GIBBON is responsible, and will give to every patient a written instrument, binding him to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.
Cured at Home.
Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating symptoms, length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the post office or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.
Caution to the Unfortunate.
Beware of the San Francisco quacks and imposters who, with bogus certificates, try to certify to the unwary. Some of these self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and other newspapers of San Francisco and other cities, trades and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are [illegible], shoemakers, [illegible] carriers intelligence office keepers, etc. The best way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many [illegible] for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting false titles, certificates, pretended patients [illegible]. Dr Gibbon will satisfy those who may call at his office of his ability to [illegible] that he [illegible] to cure.
Address DR. J F GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.
REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.
Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN. [illegible]
